

One question for the Proterozoic

Remember distance = rate * time

1. Proterozoic sedimentary rocks in the northern Rocky Mountains are 4,000 meters thick and were deposited between 1.45 billion and 850 million years ago. What was the average rate of sediment accumulation in millimeters per year? Why is this figure unlikely to represent the actual rate of sedimentation?